STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Presently, the Central Government levies tax on, manufacture of certain goods in the form of Central Excise duty, provision of certain services in the form of service tax, and on inter-State sale of goods in the form of Central Sales tax. Similarly, the State Governments levy tax, on retail sales in the form of value added tax, entry of goods in the State in the form of entry tax, luxury tax and purchase tax, etc. Accordingly, there is multiplicity of taxes which are being levied on the same supply chain.

2. The present tax system on goods and services is facing certain difficulties as under—

(i) there is cascading of taxes as taxes levied by the Central Government are not available as set off against the taxes being levied by the State Governments;

(ii) certain taxes levied by the State Governments are not allowed as set off for payment of other taxes being levied by them;

(iii) the variety of Value Added Tax Laws in the country with disparate tax rates and dissimilar tax practices divides the country into separate economic spheres; and

(iv) the creation of tariff and non-tariff barriers such as octroi, entry tax, check posts, etc., hinder the free flow of trade throughout the country. Besides that, the large number of taxes create high compliance cost for the tax payers in the form of number of returns, payments, etc.

3. In view of the aforesaid difficulties, all the above mentioned taxes are proposed to be subsumed in a single tax called the goods and services tax which will be levied on supply of goods or services or both at each stage of supply chain starting from manufacture or import and till the last retail level. So, any tax that is presently being levied by the Central Government or the State Governments on the supply of goods or services is going to be converged in goods and services tax which is proposed to be a dual levy where the Central Government will levy and collect tax in the form of central goods and services tax and the State Government will levy and collect tax in the form of state goods and services tax on intra-State supply of goods or services or both.

4. In view of the above, it has become necessary to have a Central legislation, namely the Central Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017. The proposed legislation will confer power upon the Central Government for levying goods and services tax on the supply of goods or services or both which takes place within a State. The proposed legislation will simplify and harmonise the indirect tax regime in the country. It is expected to reduce cost of production and inflation in the economy, thereby making the Indian trade and industry more competitive, domestically as well as internationally. Due to the seamless transfer of input tax credit from one stage to another in the chain of value addition, there is an in-built mechanism in the design of goods and services tax that would incentivise tax compliance by tax payers. The proposed goods and services tax will broaden the tax base, and result in better tax compliance due to a robust information technology infrastructure.

5. The Central Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017, inter alia, provides for the following, namely:—

(a) to levy tax on all intra-State supplies of goods or services or both except supply of alcoholic liquor for human consumption at a rate to be notified, not exceeding twenty per cent. as recommended by the Goods and Services Tax Council (the Council);

(b) to broad base the input tax credit by making it available in respect of taxes paid on any supply of goods or services or both used or intended to be used in the course or furtherance of business;

(c) to impose obligation on electronic commerce operators to collect tax at source, at such rate not exceeding one per cent. of net value of taxable supplies, out of payments to suppliers supplying goods or services through their portals;

(d) to provide for self-assessment of the taxes payable by the registered person;

(e) to provide for conduct of audit of registered persons in order to verify compliance with the provisions of the Act;

(f) to provide for recovery of arrears of tax using various modes including detaining and sale of goods, movable and immovable property of defaulting taxable person;

(g) to provide for powers of inspection, search, seizure and arrest to the officers;

(h) to establish the Goods and Services Tax Appellate Tribunal by the Central Government for hearing appeals against the orders passed by the Appellate Authority or the Revisional Authority;

(i) to make provision for penalties for contravention of the provisions of the proposed Legislation;

(j) to provide for an anti-profiteering clause in order to ensure that business passes on the benefit of reduced tax incidence on goods or services or both to the consumers; and

(k) to provide for elaborate transitional provisions for smooth transition of existing tax payers to goods and services tax regime.

6. The Notes on clauses explain in detail the various provisions contained in the Central Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017.

7. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Presently, article 269 of the Constitution empowers the Parliament to make law on the taxes to be levied on the sale or purchase taking place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. Accordingly, Parliament had enacted the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 for levy of central sales tax on the sale taking place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. The central sales tax is being collected and retained by the exporting States.

2. The crucial aspect of central sales tax is that it is non-vatable, i.e. the credit of this tax is not available as set-off for the future tax liability to be discharged by the purchaser. It directly gets added to the cost of the goods purchased and becomes part of the cost of business and thereby has a direct impact on the increase in the cost of production of a particular product. Further, the fact that the rate of central sales tax is different from the value added tax being levied on the intra-State sale creates a tax arbitrage which is exploited by unscrupulous elements.

3. In view of the above, it has become necessary to have a Central legislation, namely, the Integrated Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017. The proposed Legislation will confer power upon the Central Government for levying goods and services tax on the supply of goods or services or both which takes place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. The proposed Legislation will remove both the lacunas of the present central sales tax. Besides being vatable, the rate of tax for the integrated goods and services tax is proposed to be more or less equal to the sum total of the central goods and services tax and state goods and services tax or Union territory goods and services tax to be levied on intra-State supplies. It is expected to reduce cost of production and inflation in the economy, thereby making the Indian trade and industry more competitive, domestically as well as internationally. It is also expected that introduction of the integrated goods and services tax will foster a common or seamless Indian market and contribute significantly to the growth of the economy.

4. The Integrated Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017, inter alia, provides for the following, namely :—

(a) to levy tax on all inter-State supplies of goods or services or both except supply of alcoholic liquor for human consumption at a rate to be notified, not exceeding forty per cent. as recommended by the Goods and Services Tax Council (the Council);

(b) to provide for levy of tax on goods imported into India in accordance with the provisions of the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 read with the provisions contained in the Customs Act, 1962;

(c) to provide for levy of tax on import of services on reverse charge basis under the proposed Legislation;

(d) to empower the Central Government to grant exemptions, by notification or by special order, on the recommendations of the Council;

(e) to provide for determination of the nature of supply as to whether it is an inter-State or an intra-State supply;

(f) to provide elaborate provisions for determining the place of supply in relation to goods or services or both;

(g) to provide for payment of tax by a supplier of online information and database access or retrieval services;

(h) to provide for refund of tax paid on supply of goods to tourist leaving India;

(i) to provide for apportionment of tax and settlement of funds and for transfer of input tax credit between the Central Government, State Government and Union territory;

(j) to provide for application of certain provisions of the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, inter alia, relating to definitions, time and value of supply, input tax credit, registration, returns other than late fee, payment of tax, assessment, refunds, audit, inspection, search, seizure and arrest, demands and recovery, appeals and revision, offences and penalties and transitional provisions, in the proposed Legislation; and

(k) to provide for transitional transactions in relation to import of services made on or after the appointed day.

5. The Notes on clauses explain in detail the various provisions contained in the Integrated Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017.

6. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Goods and Services Tax (Compensation to States) Bill, 2017, provides for payment of compensation to the States for loss of revenue arising on account of implementation of the goods and services tax for a period of five years in accordance with the provisions of section 18 of the Constitution (One Hundred and First Amendment) Act, 2016.

2. The Constitution (One Hundred and First Amendment) Act, 2016, has amended the Constitution to facilitate the introduction of goods and services tax in the Country. The amendments made in the Constitution confer simultaneous powers upon Parliament and the State Legislatures to make laws for levy of goods and services tax on the supplies of goods or services or both. Section 18 of the Constitution (One Hundred and First Amendment) Act, 2016, provides that, "Parliament shall, by law, on the recommendations of the Goods and Services Tax Council, provide for compensation to the States for loss of revenue arising on account of implementation of the goods and services tax for a period of five years."

3. The Goods and Services Tax (Compensation to States) Bill, 2017, inter alia, provides for the following, namely:—

(a) to provide that the financial year 2015-16 shall be taken as the base year for the purpose of calculating compensation amount payable to States;

(b) the revenue to be compensated shall consist of revenues from all taxes levied by the States which are now proposed to be subsumed under the goods and services tax, as audited by the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India;

(c) the projected nominal growth rate of revenue subsumed for a State during the transition period shall be fourteen per cent. per annum;

(d) to provide that the compensation shall be released bi-monthly against the figures given by the Central accounting authorities provisionally and final adjustment shall be done after getting audited accounts of the year from the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India;

(e) to provide that in case of the eleven Special category States referred to in article 279A of the Constitution, the revenue foregone on account of exemption of taxes granted by States shall be counted towards the definition of Revenue for the base year 2015-16;

(f) the revenues of States that were not credited to the Consolidated Fund of the States but were directly devolved to "mandi" or "municipalities" would also be included in the definition of 'revenue subsumed' if these were collected under the authority of entries 52, 54, 55 and 62 of List-II of Seventh Schedule of the Constitution and were subsumed in the goods and services tax;

(g) to generate resources to compensate States for five years for any loss of revenue suffered by them on account of implementation of goods and services tax, a cess shall be levied on such goods, as recommended by the Goods and Services Tax Council, over and above the goods and services tax on that item;

(h) the proceeds of the goods and services tax compensation cess shall be credited to a non-lapsable Fund known as the Goods and Services Tax Compensation Fund in the Public Account and all amounts payable to the States as goods and services tax compensation shall be paid from the Goods and Services Tax Compensation Fund; and

(i) any residual amount left in the Compensation Fund after five year compensation period shall be shared equally between the Centre and the States.

Fifty per cent. of the amount remaining unutilised in the Goods and Services Tax Compensation Fund at the end of the transition period shall be transferred to the Consolidated Fund of India as the share of the Centre, and the balance fifty per cent. shall be distributed amongst the States and Union territories in the ratio of their total revenues from the State goods and services tax or the Union territory goods and services tax, as the case may be, in the last year of the transition period.

4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 10 of the Bill seeks to provide that the proceeds of the goods and services tax compensation cess, as well as such other amounts as may be recommended by the Goods and Services Tax Council, shall be credited to a non-lapsable Fund known as the Goods and Services Tax Compensation Fund, which shall form part of the public account of India and shall be utilised for purposes specified in the clause 8 of the Bill. Sub-clause (3) of clause 10 of the Bill seeks to provide that fifty per cent. of the amount remaining unutilised in the goods and services tax compensation fund at the end of the transition period shall be transferred to the Consolidated Fund of India as the share of Centre, and the balance fifty per cent. shall be distributed amongst the States and the Union territories in the ratio of their total revenues from the State goods and services tax or the Union territory goods and services tax, as the case may be, in the last year of the transition period.

2. Since the central goods and services tax rate shall be arrived at so as to protect the present revenues of the Central Government from the indirect taxes being subsumed under goods and services tax, the Union Government would need additional source of revenue to compensate any State which may suffer drop in revenue collection on account of implementation of goods and services tax. Clause 8 of the Bill, thus, proposes to levy a goods and services tax compensation cess, the proceeds of which shall be used directly for the payments of goods and services tax compensation to the States.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 5 of the Bill seeks to provide the detailed procedure for calculating the base year revenue of a State on the recommendations of the Goods and Services Tax Council. Sub-clause (3) of the said clause empowers the Central Government to prescribe the conditions subject to which, the amount of revenue foregone on account of exemptions or remission given by a State Government to promote industrial investment in the said State would be included in the total base year revenue of the States, in respect of States referred to in sub-clause (g) of clause (4) of article 279A of the Constitution. Sub-clause (6) of the clause 5 empowers the Central Government to prescribe the conditions subject to which, any part of revenues not credited in the Consolidated Fund of a State shall be included in the total base year revenue of the concerned State.

2. Clause 7 of the Bill seeks to provide the detailed procedure for calculating and releasing the goods and services tax compensation amount to a State. Sub-clause (6) of clause 7 empowers the Central Government to prescribe the manner of refund of compensation by a State to the Central Government, in case excess goods and services tax compensation is paid to the said State by the Central Government.

3. Clause 8 of the Bill seeks to levy a goods and services tax compensation cess on certain supplies of goods and services. Sub-clause (1) of clause 8 empowers the Central Government to notify the manner of levy and collection of the cess and the period of its imposition.

4. Clause 9 of the Bill seeks to provide that every taxable person shall pay the cess, furnish returns and apply for any refund due. Sub-clause (1) of clause 9 empowers the Central Government to make rules for prescribing the manner and forms for payment of cess, furnishing of returns and refund of cess.

5. The matters in respect of which notifications may be issued or rules may be made in accordance with the aforesaid provisions of the Bill are matters of procedure and detail and it is not practicable to provide for the same in the Bill itself. The delegation of legislative power is, therefore, of a normal character.

26. (1) If any difficulty arises in giving effect to any provision of this Act, the Central Government may, on the recommendations of the Council, by a general or a special order published in the Official Gazette, make such provisions not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or the rules or regulations made thereunder, as may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of removing the said difficulty:

Removal of difficulties.

Provided that no such order shall be made after the expiry of a period of three years from the date of commencement of this Act.

(2) Every order made under this section shall be laid, as soon as may be, after it is made, before each House of Parliament.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Presently, the Constitution empowers the Central Government to levy excise duty on manufacturing and service tax on the supply of services. Similarly, it empowers the State Governments and Union territories to levy sales tax or value added tax on the sale of goods. In addition, many States also levy an entry tax on the entry of goods in local areas. This exclusive division of fiscal powers has led to a multiplicity of indirect taxes in the country.

2. The present tax system on goods and services in the Union territories is facing certain difficulties which are as under—

(a) the multiplicity of taxes at the Central and State levels has resulted in a complex indirect tax structure in the country that is ridden with hidden costs for the trade and industry;

(b) there is no uniformity of tax rates and structure across the States and there is cascading of taxes due to "tax on tax"; and

(c) the credit of excise duty and service tax paid at the stage of manufacture is not available to the traders while paying the State level sales tax or value added tax, and vice versa. Further, the credit of State taxes paid in one State cannot be availed in other States. Hence, the prices of goods and services get artificially inflated to the extent of this "tax on tax".

3. In view of the above, it has become necessary to have a Central Legislation, namely, the Union Territory Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017. The proposed Legislation will confer power upon the Central Government for levying goods and services tax on the supply of goods or services or both which takes place within a Union territory without Legislature.

4. The proposed Legislation will simplify and harmonise the indirect tax regime in the country. It is expected to reduce the cost of production and inflation in the economy, thereby making the Indian trade and industry more competitive, domestically as well as internationally. It is also expected that introduction of goods and services tax will foster a common or seamless Indian market and contribute significantly to the growth of the economy. Due to the seamless transfer of input tax credit from one stage to another in the chain of value addition, there is an in-built mechanism in the design of goods and services tax that would incentivise tax compliance by tax payers. The proposed goods and services tax will broaden the tax base and result in better tax compliance due to a robust information technology infrastructure.

5. The Union Territory Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017, inter alia, provides for the following, namely:—

(a) to levy tax on all intra-State supplies of goods or services or both except supply of alcoholic liquor for human consumption at a rate to be notified, not exceeding twenty per cent. as recommended by the Goods and Services Tax Council (the Council);

(b) to empower the Central Government to grant exemptions, by notification or by special order, on the recommendations of the Council;

(c) to provide for apportionment of tax and settlement of funds on account of transfer of input tax credit between the Central Government, State Government and Union territory;

(d) to provide for assistance by officers of Police, Railways, Customs, and those engaged in the collection of land revenue, including village officers, and officers of central tax and officers of the State tax to proper officers in the implementation of the proposed Legislation;

(e) to provide for recovery of tax, interest or penalty payable by a person to the Government which remains unpaid, by the proper officer of central tax;

(f) to establish an Authority for Advance Ruling in order to enable the taxpayer to seek a binding clarity on taxation matters from the department;

(g) to provide for elaborate transitional provisions for smooth transition of existing taxpayers to goods and services tax regime;

(h) to provide for application of certain provisions of the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, inter alia, relating to definitions, time and value of supply, input tax credit, registration, returns other than late fee, payment of tax, assessment, refunds, audit, inspection, search, seizure and arrest, demands and recovery, appeals and revision, offences and penalties and transitional provisions in the proposed Legislation; and

(i) to empower the Commissioner to issue orders, instructions or directions to the Union territory tax officers.

6. The Notes on clauses explain in detail the various provisions contained in the Union Territory Goods and Services Tax Bill, 2017.

7. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.
